4 Ways To AVOID THE DENTISTS!

Gnashers, fangs, chompers, molars, dentures, pearly whites - whatever you choose to call them, teeth have their own special place in everyone's mouth! They're particularly useful for cutting, slicing, grinding, chewing - not forgetting speaking and smiling! It's almost as if they were actually made to do just these things! With such a workload it's essential that you learn to take care of your teeth each and every day. Then your regular check up at the dentist won't be so scary and turn into a Nightmare On Fang Street! Remember, look after your teeth and they'll look after you!

CLEAN YOUR TEETH AFTER EACH MEAL!

As soon as you've finished eating, you should clean your teeth for at least 3 minutes! Preferably with a toothbrush. The movement should be upwards and downwards. Oh, and always remember to wait for your friends to finish their meal before you start brushing...things might get a bit messy!

TOO MANY SWEETS

When it comes to dental hygiene, it's important to have discipline and avoid sugary temptation. Sugars are, after all, the villains of the Toothworld. Remember last time you stuffed your face with sweets? Wasn't pretty, was it?

MOUTH WASH!

In the fight against the dreaded denture decay, there's also another effective weapon: mouth wash. This is necessary to zap nasty germs and bacteria. After swilling the minty potion from side to side in your mouth don't forget to spit it out, otherwise you might end up a lovely shade of green! It's probably best to practise in private first to avoid embarrassing spillage and losing friends along the way.

USING DENTAL FLOSS

Finally, in order to help clean you teeth perfectly, boffins have invented dental floss. Floss reaches the parts where your old toothbrush cannot reach, but you have to master the art of flossing first. You'll need your parents help to show you this one though, it's trickier than it seems. If it hurts, shout for help!

Spot the Warthog!

HOW MANY CRABS THE WARTHOG DOLLS CAN YOU FIND IN THIS PILE OF TOYS!

The answer's obvious, there is only one Crabs the Warthog!

THEY'RE CRAZY, UNPREDICTABLE, AND COMPLETELY OUTRAGEOUS!

NOW IMAGINE THEM IN YOUR HOME!

Go ahead, invite them into your home. But don't say we didn't warn you. Because the wild, crazy, outrageous antics of the LOONEY TUNES™, ANIMANIACS™, and PINKY AND THE BRAIN™ characters are sure to cause a commotion in your house.

There's the LOONEY TUNES Animated Jigsaws™, where you'll piece together fun and challenging scenes from those much loved LOONEY TUNES cartoons and then watch the animated clip come to life and play right there on your computer screen.

And Crazy Paint™ products where kids can colour their favourite Warner Bros. characters using "certifiably" wacky painting tools and have a rollicking, yet creative good time.

Then there's Daily Desktop™, a hilarious calendar for your computer that does so much more than just keep track of the days. It lets you go "wild" in creating your own LOONEY TUNES computer universe and can send gag pranks to your "networked" friends.

Stop by your nearest software retailer and see what all the insanity is about. But don't say we didn't warn you.

HOW DID SHE DO THAT?

MAKE YOUR OWN KITE!

INSTRUCTIONS

MATERIALS:
Paper, 2 green garden canes, strong glue, scissors and a reel of cotton

To make your own kite you'll need some paper and some green canes which you can buy at any garden store.
First, fold over the edges of the kite and glue them down to make the paper stronger.
Then, you stick the two canes onto the paper with very strong glue. One rod horizontally on the kite, and one vertically.
Now glue on a piece of card to the top corner of the kite (as seen in picture).

Tie on 3 pieces of string - one on the middle rod, and two either side of it.
Attach the 3 pieces of string together about half a metre away from the kite.
To put the finishing touch to your kite tie on a colourful ribbon as a decorative tail!

THE HISTORY OF KITES

Although we associate kites with the Chinese tradition the first ever kite was actually invented by the Greeks. It was called Arquitas and made in the 4th Century BC.
Over the years the kite has been forever changing and decorated with numerous drawings ranging from dragons, fish and even your favourite cartoon characters!.
The kite didn't actually enter Western history until 1752 when Benjamin Franklin, the famous inventor and American President flew one during a storm to prove that electricity existed.
Also, Italian president Guillermono Marconi used one to elevate the receiving antenna of the first electric signal sent across the Atlantic Ocean.
